The Learning MatchMaker (TLMM) is not a training company but a consulting and research company that connects companies training plans to the appropriate trainer and training provider. TLMM offers research on the best training contents, advise for the best framework and coordination of all types of training needed and matches companies to the best comparisons.

Companies in Malaysia invest approximately RM5 Billion yearly on training alone.

However according to a quote : Most of the training spent are wasted because the knowledge and skills are gained in training (well over 80% some estimates) is not fully applied by those employees on the job.

How to resolve this?

Those in charge of training need to raise their game substantially. They need to move away from a “cost centre” mentality to improving and maximising performance. For that, they need better engagement with higher level in the organisation to bring learning and development, along with HR, closer to the strategic thinking in the boardroom.

At TLMM, we understand that your company may not always have the time, resources or research expertise for the most suitable training. Upon a training or learning tool request given, we will revert within 24 hours with 3 to 4 best comparisons.
