TLMM is a great asset to the way I deliver workshops for my company. TLMM has enabled a 2 person learning and development team deliver workshops for over 900 population. The care and efficiency of their work has improved the delivery effectiveness of our team significantly. Also, the TLMM team is very discipline and efficient in obtaining my training requirements, sourcing and evaluating the quality of the content and the facilitators and the follow up post training is very beneficial to our team.

The care and thoroughness of TLMM in the sourcing and recommendation of the trainers were very good and really spot on in terms of what profile of trainers my team was looking for. The evaluation reports provided by TLMM was very useful for me to make quick decisions on which trainer to select. Have worked with TLMM on several training projects and the quality of trainers has been excellent.

The experience the TLMM team brings eases the communication between the internal team and the TLMM team. When we have requirements and is communicated, the TLMM team is able to synthesize it easily and translate that into specific competencies and disciplines which the trainer should possess.

TLMM is definitely is great asset to my team and partnering with them is a long term plan of mine. I certainly recommend TLMM to any of my peers or friends within my network who wants to source for trainings. Definitely a great training partner.

To Whom It May Concern,

Having known and organized an In-House Training with The Learning Matchmaker for a year, I have nothing but praise for their effort and professional approach in providing the most suitable training and trainer for the company. The service provided before and after the training was commendable as it gives me access to many types of trainings as they are able to search for specific trainings requested by us to meet the company's training program. The training session conducted by them was lively, informative and very timely. The review by the attendees with regards to the training was very good and they enjoyed the session. The reactions by the attendees have encouraged me to continue recommending their service to the management.

Sincerely,

Iga Marcus Sullang

I am impressed with Mr. John's training. His approach is quite unique where he facilitates the participants very closely. His workshop has a combination of 80% of practical session and 20% of theory. He did a lots of exercises which allows the participants to stimulate answers and then facilitates them. This way gives high impacts on effectiveness of training.

Driving Transformation

With the right matches sourced by TLMM, City-Link engaged Global Dynamics to conduct a series of Taking Ownership Passionately (T.O.P) program for our employees. Our primary objective is to transform the organisation culture and mindsets, to enhance overall performance.

Four (5) sessions of T.O.P have been completed to date. We are pleased that the program has been well-received by the participants. Based on formal feedback gathered through our training evaluation forms, the program and trainers have been rated an average overall score of 4.9 (out of 5) by the participants.

More importantly, the trainers are able to deliver the program content in a simple, yet profound manner. The trainers also engage the participants through genuine care and passion for inspiring personal growth in others. They are down-to-earth and have natural ability to connect with participants, resulting in highly interactive sessions.

The program has positively impacted the culture of our organisation by creating awareness of the right mental attitude and values. We appreciate Global Dynamics' commitment in working closely with us to meet our organisation's objectives. TLMM, you have partnered us with another great training company!
